

Canadian Junior Virtual Cycling Series

PRIVACY POLICY

The Canadian Junior Virtual Cycling Series event organizers take your privacy and security very seriously. Therefore, it is important for our users to understand when and how their personal information is being used on our site.

When users submit a registration, contact, or any other type of form through the Canadian Junior Virtual Cycling Series, event organizers collect this information for operational purposes. Data collected from our contact forms provide us with your name and an email address to allow us to respond in a fast and effective manner. All data collected through our registration forms are necessary information for us to confirm your registration request and allow you to join the event. Data collected from these forms will be stored in our databases to improve user experiences and simplify organizer operations. You may request to have the personal information you provide to us removed from our databases, but please be aware that the removal of this information may affect pending registrations.

User data collected by both our first time and repeat registration forms will be provided to RGT Cycling for registration purposes. We will not disclose this information to any other organization, and we will not publish the personal information that we collect from these forms. This disclosure of information to RGT Cycling will allow us to complete and verify your registration through the RGT Cycling application for event purposes. We will not distribute any information to RGT Cycling that you would not have provided to RGT Cycling upon your RGT account registration. Data we may provide to RGT Cycling includes but is not limited to the registrant's name and email address.

Upon the completion of events we will be publicly sharing results documents to our social media channels and website. Please be informed that your position, full name, time, and watts/kg information will be publicly displayed in our results documents. We will be collecting the results from RGT Cycling after each race. This information would be accessible to any athlete who has completed each race by RGT Cycling policies, however, we will be taking and publishing this information on a public scale.

Our website and social media accounts do collect analytical data when users interact with these platforms. This analytical data measures how users interact with our website and social media. Interactions such as total viewership of our webpage and social media channels will be collected. This data is collected in order for us to improve our services to the user and will be kept internal and never published. The information that is collected can not be used to identify you as the user in any way, shape, or form. As an example, we will be able to see how many people visited our website on a given day but we cannot, and do not, collect data on who visited our website unless that user inputs their information into one of our forms. We have no way of identifying any user that has interacted with our website or social media unless the user knowingly and willingly identifies themselves.

Please recognize that the Canadian Junior Virtual Cycling Series organizers assume no responsibility for the security of any information that you provide us. The Canadian Junior Virtual Cycling Series also reserves the right to make changes to this privacy policy at any point in time. If changes occur, we will notify users of this change and give the option for users to remove their personal information from these databases.
